[ (( CAM shifts right and zooms out to focus on MacDougall))

our ... students, faculty, uh staff, and members of our community into the Garvin Theater today=which for what is (in the life) of Santa Barbara City College ... a unique experience.

[ ((CAM zooms out))

We very, very much appreciate Ms. Clinton, having you here with us today ... and we ... appreciate tremendously ... the willingness of the First Lady to take the time that (is) sh-she is going to take this morning ... to ... deal with issues, of (a) higher education. I think all of us involved with education ... realize the tremendous responsibility we have to prepare people for this information based society ... that we have and it'll be through community colleges ((Gestures hands in outward motion)) that that access is either gained or thwarted ... and we're convinced ed ... that here at Santa Barbara City College, that we are going to meet that challenge and meet it very well, so we're pleased Mrs. Clinton, to have the opportunity uh to spend approximately 45 minutes with you uh talking about our programs

((Audience begins laughing as CAM zooms in))

[ PM; and on behalf of (??) (welcome) (??)

((Audience applause))

[ HC; Thank you

[ ((CAM zooms out and to the left to focus on Clinton))

HC; very much Dr. MacDougall and thank a:ll of you who are here on the panel and in the audience um ... I am delighted to be here at this particular college at this point in history because I agree with Dr. MacDougall that ... the 21st century, which is not very far from now=it's about 4 years=less than that uh will offer unlimited uh possibilities, but with: ... a condition ... that the people who wish to ... realize their own potential have the education and skills to be able to navigate their way
